Comment:	This day I created the Form and styled it well.	This day I made the code store the forms input, so that it can be used for later. I also created the pdfMaker functionality.	This day I created the template for the contract, along with the dynamic functionality. Putting the input into the pdf.	This day I was styling the contract, to use the same fontSize, spaces, bulletpoints, header and footers. The next part of the day I edited the validation of the form.	This day I was Setting up the GitHub repository and sharing it with the required collaborator. I was also reviewing the code from start to end and seeing where I can edit.
